

Kerstin works in the field of customer success, developing and driving programs that optimize the customer lifecycle. In her free time, she is devoted to health and wellness for herself and for her community, and is happy to volunteer with National Jewish Health.